State Cancer Aid For Local Project Will Be Requested

May Be Applied to Tumor Clinic; No Definite Plan Yet; Want Big 1949 Drive

A request for allocation of funds here by the New York Division of the American Cancer Society, voted at Thursday night's meeting of the Ulster County Branch of the organization, may mean additional aid in financing the Tumor Clinic building under construction adjacent to Kingston Hospital.

Although he did not specify this, Dr. Francis E. O'Connor, one of the prime movers in construction of the clinic, suggested that application be made for funds from the state body to be applied on an Ulster county project.

It was felt by those at the meeting that interest displayed by the state division in sending money for a local project might spur the 1949 cancer drive in Ulster county. Eugene B. Carey, chairman, and Oscar J. Lavatsch, treasurer of this year's drive were commended for their services and will receive letters of appreciation. Plans were discussed to have a speaker from the cancer headquarters here to start next year's campaign.

A committee was appointed to make a list of names for additional members to the board of directors of the Ulster County Branch, the total membership not to exceed 60.

A letter will be sent expressing appreciation for her outstanding service to Mrs. Kenneth Duncan, former Ulster county commander for the Field Army, and to express regret that her new residence in Poughkeepsie made it necessary for her to resign.

The nominating committee appointed to report at the December meeting included Mr. and Mrs. James Betts, Mrs. Henry Knauth and Dr. J. Spottiswood Taylor.

Richard Alexander, 9, Injured by City Bus

Richard Alexander, 9, son of Mr. and Mrs. Percy C. Alexander of 477 Abel street, was injured about 3:35 p. m. Friday when a city bus passed over the steps of both his feet at the intersection of Wilbur avenue and Davis street, the police reported.

The boy was taken to Kingston Hospital, where his condition today was reported "good." According to information received at police headquarters from the boy's physician, there are apparently no fractures, although the hospital staff is awaiting the results of X-rays taken of the boy's feet.

The boy told Patrolman Guernsey Burger, Jr., who took him to the hospital, that he had been standing waiting for the bus, but didn't notice the approach of the bus and stepped from the curb into its path.

The bus, owned by the Kingston City Transportation Corporation, was driven by Walter Holtschople of 133 O'Neil street, according to the report of Patrolman Elbert Soper and Guernsey Burger, Sr., who were sent with Guernsey Burger, Jr., to investigate the accident.

Match Book Clue to Arrest Of Youth in Hotel Slaying

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
New York, Nov. 6 (AP)—A 19-year-old Michigan youth was booked on a homicide charge early today in the slaying of a Canadian businessman at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel. Police said he was traced through a match-book clue.

The six-foot, well-dressed youth, Ralph Edward Barrows, has confessed, according to police, that he was arrested last night in a midtown Manhattan tavern, about 10 hours after Colin Cameron Mackellar, 56-year-old textile company official, was found beaten to death in his two-room, 19th-floor hotel suite.

Assistant District Attorney Harry Blum quoted Barrows as saying that he met Mackellar at the Hotel Astor bar, and that later, the two went to the Canadian's Waldorf-Astoria apartment where they got into a fight and Mackellar was knocked to the floor.

Chief Medical Examiner Dr. Thomas A. Gonzales said Mackellar, married and the father of two children, died of a fractured skull and ruptured intestines after being "punched, kicked or jumped upon."

Mackellar, general sales manager of the Dominion Textile Co., Ltd., of Montreal, arrived here by plane Thursday night.

Maid Finds Body
His body was found by a maid yesterday morning on the floor in the living room of his suite.

Police said there was a pair of highball glasses on the table and some ice setups for whisky drinks indicating Mackellar had had company, but that no one had been seen with him.

It listed the name of a tavern,

Polish Delegate Says Likes and Dislikes of Dulles Are Now a Private 'Affair'

By EDWARD CURTIS

Paris, Nov. 6 (AP)—A Russian bloc delegate taunted John Foster Dulles today on the Republican defeat in the United States election.

Dulles, a U. S. delegate to the U.N. assembly and foreign affairs adviser to Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, might have been secretary of state had Dewey been elected.

The delegate, Juliusz Katz-Suchy of Poland, also took a crack at American bi-partisan foreign policy in the light of President Truman's victory at the polls. He addressed the 58-nation political committee of the United Nations assembly.

Replying to Dulles' attack yesterday on the role of Soviet bloc states in the Greek civil war, the Polish delegate declared "the likes and dislikes of Mr. Dulles are entirely a personal affair since last Tuesday—entirely a private affair."

The Polish delegate's attack was a personal one, on Dulles. The American delegate yesterday had accused the Soviet Union, Yugoslavia, Albania and Bulgaria of attempting to discredit the U.N. special committee on the Balkans (U.N.S.C.O.B.) and hide facts about Communist support for the Greek guerrillas. The debate on the Greek case was resumed today.

During his speech, Katz-Suchy frequently thumped the table with his fist as he directed sarcastic barbs at Dulles. At one point he declared with heavy irony that "Mr. Dulles' bipartisan attachment

Truman Seeks to Cut Budget Deficit Below Own Forecast; Barkley Says Congress Will Put Clamp On Prices

'Honest Business' Need Not Fear; T.-H. Act Revision Is Promised, Rent Controls

South Rift Fades Barkley Declares That Corporations Profited $21 Billions

Washington, Nov. 6 (AP)—Business faced this two-edged forecast today by Alben W. Barkley: The 81st Congress will put some legal clamps on prices, but "honest business" need have no fears.

The vice president elect, who will head the new Senate, lifted the lid slightly on the administration's legislative plans, shortly after attending President Truman's first cabinet meeting since their election triumph.

The Kentucky senator made these other new conference predictions:

1. There will be speedy revision of the Taft-Hartley Act to bring it more in line with the New Deal's Wagner labor law.

2. Rent controls due to expire March 4, will be extended.

3. Sufficient appropriations will be provided to "carry on the work" of the European recovery program.

4. "Any need China has for further assistance" will get proper consideration.

Barkley wouldn't speculate on the possibility that the President will ask funds to help rebuild the armies of European nations, outside the Russian orbit.

5. "Silent on Profit Tax"

Nor would he guess whether Mr. Truman will ask again for an excess profits tax on business.

When a newsmen asked if Barkley couldn't give some assurances that business will not face future "reforms," the vice president elect replied:

"I don't know what reforms they are afraid of."

The reporter mentioned the plunge of stock prices in Wall Street.

"Oh, Wall Street," Barkley said, "I thought you were asking me about business. I don't see what business has to worry about. Corporations made $21,000,000,000 profit last year—an all-time peak. Business is doing pretty well."

"There was nothing in our campaign oratory—I may call it that—that was unfair to business, honest business, that is." He added that "honest business" has nothing to fear from Congress.

Mr. Truman talked quite a bit during the campaign about Wall Street. He had a lot to say about "gluttons of privilege," which he did not identify very specifically.

Too Early on Future

Despite stories that Mr. Truman won't seek a second full term, the 70-year-old Barkley declined to climb out on a political limb, saying it is "too early to speculate" on his own political future.

But he made it plain he intends to take an active part in trying to put over the President's program in the Senate.

"I'm not going to lose my interest in legislation," he said.

Also, he said, he will be available for an outside work the President wants to delegate to him.

He said he wants to keep on as majority leader until January 20, when he will be inaugurated as vice president. Senator Scott Lucas (D-Ill.) is expected to succeed him as Democratic leader.

Reminded that the southern States' Right group hasn't relented in its opposition to the President's civil rights program, Barkley said the administration will "cross that bridge when it comes to it."

May Be No Bridge

"There may not even be a bridge when we get to it," he remarked.

In this connection, some of the southerners who had criticized Mr. Truman's proposals severely, displayed an inclination to make up.

Senator Olin C. Johnston (D-S.C.) who boycotted the Jackson Day dinner last winter in a civil rights huff, went down to meet the President and shake hands with him when Mr. Truman arrived yesterday.

The President leaves Sunday for a two-week vacation at Key West, Fla. Barkley said he will join Mr. Truman there.

C.I.O. Battle On

New York, Nov. 6 (AP)—The running battle for control of the C.I.O. Transport Workers Union has reached the investigating committee stage. Such a committee was formed yesterday a short time after Michael Quill, the union's president, challenged the left-wing majority of the union's executive board to remove him from office. A Quill supporter said the committee was created specifically to consider Quill's challenge.

More Meat, Milk And Eggs Are on Way to the Table

Washington, Nov. 6 (AP)—More meat, milk and eggs are on the way to your table, the Agriculture Department said today.

Because of this year's bountiful crops of feed grain, farmers are giving their livestock and poultry heavier rations. The result is greater volume of milk per cow, more eggs per hen and heavier meat animals.

The department said weather continued favorable during September and most of October for maturing and drying corn, thus assuring a record quantity of good-quality grain for the 1948-49 feeding season.

He retired from the New York Police Department in 1936 after 25 years service and had resided in St. Remy for the past two years. Besides his widow, Clara Beyer Langler, he leaves a daughter, Mrs. Josiah H. Chambers of St. Remy; a granddaughter, Mrs. Raymond Waters of Alhambra, Cal.; and a grandson, Frederick L. MacDonald of Monterey, Cal.

Charge Irregularities

Hartford, Conn., Nov. 6 (AP)—A court order impounding all voting machines used in Tuesday's election has been obtained by the State Board of Canvassers of election returns. The action, unprecedented in modern Connecticut history, was taken to give members of the board, all Republicans, time to decide whether to make a general state-wide recount. The canvassers said there were reports of "irregularities" in the voting. The state's eight electoral votes went to the Republicans, but Democrats captured all state offices but one, electing Chester Bowles, former national O.P.A. administrator as governor. Democrats also took three of the state's six houses seats. Bowles defeated James C. Shannon, Republican incumbent.

Didn't Shoot Self

Reno, Nev., Nov. 6 (AP)—A coroner's jury has decided Leonard H. Wolff, 28, wealthy young Denver man, died here October 23 of "gunshot wound in the head" after losing $86,000 in a blackjack game at a night club. The jury made no mention of who may have caused the wound. Previously Coroner Laurence Layman and sheriff's officers had said Wolff shot himself.

Took Him at Word

Jamestown, N. Y., Nov. 6 (AP)—Cus Nestle, manager of the Palace Theatre, is convinced—the hard way—of the power of advertising. Nestle, plugging a give-away show next week, posted a sign proclaiming: Money Is Free at The Palace. Next morning he reported to police that somebody broke in and swiped $1,000 from an office strongbox.

Oneonta Fliers Are Safe After Pancake Landing at Aero Collision Occurs on Toronto's Western Outskirts; 15 Are Critical

Two Oneonta men escaped unhurt when they were forced to "pancake" at Aero Lake Airport late Friday after a fence had ripped off their landing gear in an earlier "downwind" attempt.

The pilot, David Newton, attempted to land the plane at about 11:30 a. m., it was reported at the airport. The plane came in low and its landing gear struck a fence on the north end of the field.

Newton kept the plane aloft for about an hour. With him was Robert Lyle, and information at the airport indicated that the two had hired the Piper Cub Cruiser.

The plane kept near the airport while the pilot was deciding what to do about his predicament and finally a note was dropped on the airfield. It read: "Kindly call local sawbones—Here we come."

The W. N. Conner ambulance was called and was at the scene, but the plane pancaked on the field without injury to either man, although the craft was damaged considerably.

The nose of the bus was tightly imbedded in the front of the streetcar. Rescuers used acety-

Halcott Center Grange Has Chance for National Prize

Green Valley Grange of Halcott, center, the New York state final in a nation-wide community service contest, was visited Friday by the national judges who are making a tour to inspect the projects and select the national winner. First prize in the big contest is either a new Grange Hall, complete soil conservation district, equipment, or something of equal value, estimated at between $30,000 or $40,000.

The national judges, who landed at the Kingston-Ulster airport in the Sears Roebuck private DC 3 twin-engine airplane, are R. Douglass Stuart, president of Quaker Oats, and president of the Foundation for American Agriculture, Dean McNeal, business analyst for Pillsbury Mills; William Pearson, master of the Minnesota State Grange; Homer Shride, master of the Missouri State Grange; and R. V. Mullen of the Sears Roebuck Foundation, co-sponsors of the contest with the National Grange.

The Greene county grange was selected from 140 competing Granges in the Empire State, and then as finalist from the state winners. In all, 1391 granges competed in the nation.

The Halcott Center unit has won this honor by submitting seven worthwhile projects completed this summer. They built a community dining room, organized a cow testing association, sponsored a recreation program including basketball, softball, and men's and women's bowling teams, set up a youth organization, contributed money, food and clothing to overseas relief, and built a burial vault in the local cemetery for winter burials.

Henry D. Sherwood, Pine Plains, master of the New York State Grange, and Harry L. Graham, Syracuse, director of expansion of the State Grange, were on hand to welcome the visitors and to accompany them on their inspection of the Halcott Center projects.

The judges flew in from Martha's Vineyard, Mass., after being at Lowell, Ind., to inspect a grange there. They left immediately after the inspection for Trenton, N. J. Others included in the party were O. M. Kile of Sears Roebuck, former master of Potomac Grange, Washington, D. C.; William D. Driggs, farm editor of the National Broadcasting Company; Edward Holter, master of the Maryland State Grange and lecturer of the National Grange and Fred Bailey, editor of the Washington Farm Reporter, Washington, D. C.

A lunch was served the visitors by the host grange, of which Bob Johnson is master, and Ola Scudder, chairman of the Community Service Committee. The national winners will be announced at the National Grange session in Portland, Me., Nov. 17.

Economic Advisers Are Sure Expenses Will Be Less; Increase in Income in View

Drop in Foreign Aid and Cut in Defense Is Expected to Help

By Charles Molony

Washington, Nov. 6 (AP)—President Truman takes another look today at one prediction he hopes will be wrong—his August forecast of a $1,500,000,000 budget deficit.

To help figure out how much it may cost to keep the country peaceful and prosperous as he pledged, Mr. Truman called in Budget Director James Webb for an early morning conference.

Getting down to business immediately after yesterday's gala homecoming celebration, the President laid new stress on his campaign promises to do his best to keep the nation from going into the hole financially.

He ordered the budget records hauled out before leaving tomorrow on a two-week vacation in Key West, Fla.

Mr. Truman and his budget chief also will have on hand the latest prescription for treating high prices and inflation, offered by the President's council of economic advisers.

No Remedy Yet
No exact remedy will be proposed until after the new Democratic controlled Congress takes over January 3, but indications are it will contain about the same anti-inflation ingredients which the 80th Congress refused to order.

The economic report was understood to be accompanied by this sizeup of the government's financial condition—it's in much better shape than when the August deficit forecast was made.

Mr. Truman's associates expect his next budget prediction for the year starting July 1 to be nearer the balance level. While none will prophesy flatly that income and outgo will be equal, they say expenses will be less than were figured on last summer and revenues will top the previous income estimates.

Greater Federal Aid

As for Mr. Truman's campaign promises of greater federal aid for homes, health, education and the like, his associates say these costs were figured into pre-election forecasts that a $45,000,000,000 budget would be proposed in January.

An expected drop in foreign aid costs plus a clampdown on defense expenses also are counted on to help put the budget on an even keel.

Over the course of his Congressional and White House service, Mr. Truman has evolved a budget policy in marked contrast to those of his predecessor, a study of the record shows.

This difference in aims lay behind his record of two balanced budgets (and the biggest surplus in history) after an unbroken string of deficits under President Roosevelt.

However, deliberately unbalanced the budget in the mid-30s in order to put inflationary pressures under prices on the theory that higher prices would lift business out of depression doldrums and relieve unemployment.

2. Mr. Truman, recognizing that postwar inflation needs opposite treatment, has battled hard for

Kingston Railroad Company Dissolved

New York, Nov. 5 (Special to the Freeman)—The Public Service Commission today approved a petition of the Kingston Consolidated Railroad Company for its dissolution.

The company was organized in 1937 to operate streetcar service in Kingston. On September 30, that year, the transportation of passengers in Kingston was taken over by the Kingston City Transportation Corporation, a wholly-owned corporation which was organized for that express purpose. The Kingston Consolidated Railroad Company then divested itself of its transportation equipment, except a garage in Kingston which it leased to its subsidiary. This was transferred to the Kingston City Transportation Corporation on November 7 last.

The P.S.C., acting on a recommendation of its examiner, W. T. Wilkinson, who stated that no useful purpose can be served by the continued existence of the corporation, granted the petition to dissolve.

Baptists to End Crusade on Sunday

A special new member's Holy Communion service will be held in the First Baptist Church, Albany Avenue at Broadway, Sunday at 11 a. m. This will represent the final service in cooperation with a six-week church worship crusade sponsored by the combined committees on Evangelism and Christian Education of the Northern Baptist Convention.
The 142 members received into the church during the present pastorate have been personally invited to occupy the middle seats in the front of the sanctuary Sunday. The right hand of fellowship will be extended to other new members prior to the commemoration of the Lord's Supper. An annual offering will be taken for the Ministers and Missionaries Benefit Board of the Baptist denomination for the support of aged ministers and missionaries. Pulpit flowers will be provided by the members of Circle 1, Ladies' Aid Society, in memory of Miss Mary Lacey, one of the oldest members of the church who recently died.
Mrs. Raymond Woodard, secretary of the crusade, will speak briefly on the subject, "The Importance of Continuing Church Attendance," and the Rev. Edward W. Winder, D.D., minister, will make answer to the age-old query, "What Think Ye of Christ?"
Music arranged for the occasion by Mrs. Lester E. Decker and Mrs. Edward Winder, ministers of music, will include a cantata solo by Miss Collette Magnuson of the New Palz State Teachers College and anthems by the temple choir.
Mrs. Elsie M. Pultz and Attorney Floyd W. Powell have served as co-chairmen of the local Crusade, with the assistance of 34 visitors and workers.
The initial purpose of the crusade, to urge inactive members through home visitations, cards and phone calls to attend one worship service each Sunday for six successive Sundays, has been carried out with great success. The final phase of the crusade, to invite prospective members to unite with the church, will be projected in the future.
A fellowship dinner for all crusade workers and visitors will be held Thursday at 6:30 p. m. in the church parlors, when final reports will be given. The dinner will be served by the Deacons' wives and others under the supervision of Mrs. William W. Brady.

SHOKAN

Shokan, Nov. 5.—The Ashokan M. E. Church W.S.C.S. met at the home of Mrs. Fred Gulnack Wednesday afternoon. The society members raised $35 at their food sale last week.

The Olive Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring a testimonial dinner to be held at Chalet Indian, Holicville, Saturday evening, November 20.

The attractively styled new house of Frank Carle on the old state road now is closed and ready for the exterior siding. A large glass front window, such as are being placed in many new homes now, is a feature of the Carle dwelling. A few yards to the west is the Cape Cod style house of Bertha Keodar of Kingston which looks about ready for occupancy. The east end of Shokan has begun to build up, and there are many more potential home sites in this sector. Farther west, on The Trail, where the new pavement contacts the old concrete, Fred Woelckner, a newcomer to Shokan, has the superstructure of his bungalow building pretty well completed.

38 Years Ago

Saturday, Nov. 5, 1910.—The Maple Chair Company of Shandaken has been awarded a contract for $10,000 to take over the Hiram Whitney business. Directors of the new concern are: J. Willet Fox, Yonkers; John R. and Sarah B. McLaren of Shandaken. Clarence Rowe of West Hurley, who sued the William Scoville estate for services rendered, received $30,000 and cash advanced will be awarded $10,000. The late Mr. Scoville, a bachelor, bequeathed practically all of his estate, $70,000 to the Reformed Church Missions and Bible Society. . . . Phenicia Simon K. Winchell was one of the veterans of "Old Co. B" 20th Bn. N. Y. State Militia who attended the 25th anniversary of the Hotel Shandaken. The old company went out of existence when the 20th was disbanded but its members were retained in service as the 14th Separate Company.

Talking It Over

A taxpayers' mass meeting to discuss Central School assessments is advertised for 7:45 p. m., November 7 at Lambert's Grove near Boiceville. The Ontario School District, which embraces all or parts of six townships with a total assessed valuation of more than $10 million, has a common tax collector who will receive taxes at the 1 per cent fee until November 15. The rate for October is $13.75 per M, which is equalled or exceeded only by that of Lexington, and the amount of tax levied is $78,469, or nearly double that of Shandaken, the next highest. Thus, a taxpayer in Shokan village who is assessed at $3500 will this year pay $48.65 including the minimum fee.

Around the Town

The burial of Mrs. Walter L. DeWitt, a native of Olive and a resident of Shandaken, took place October 28 in the Shandaken Cemetery. Mrs. DeWitt, who was the former Eleanor Brannen, is survived by her husband and nine children. . . . A deal of shoulder grading remains to be done on the new road west of Shokan village, and men and machinery are hard at the job. A shovel and other equipment also is still in use in the Temple's Pond sector to the east of Shokan. The scenery along the road, far from resembling No Man's Land as of earlier in the year, has been dolled up a little. Not quite so picturesque as the old route, but not bad either, considering the rocky Hurley terrain. . . . Capt. Frank Jackson has had a telephone installed in his village center home. . . . Mrs. Nell Windrum left town Wednesday on a trip to the metropolis. The terms of the poll tax, the usual big majority at the Shokan balloting machine, First Olive district seldom goes back on the Grand Old Party. The total vote for president of 339 did not stack up very well with the 472 registrations, but then nobody expected it. The two lady clerks plus Eugene McGowan, the student union well in hand throughout a busy day and well on into rural "sleepy-time." One elderly local Dem admits having voted Republican for the first time. Most everyone here, as elsewhere, felt that it was in the bag for Tom and boy, were they surprised to learn, via the ether, that said bag had a hole in it. No long faces around town Wednesday morn, however; the Dems were happy and their opponents of long standing conceded themselves with "Well, New York will have a good show for a couple more years at least. . . . A very pleasant interlude for all; there being few, if any gamblers in these parts.

Thawing Pipes

It's a Hazardous Job for Inexperienced Householder

With the approach of zero temperatures, the problem of what to do and what not to do in the winter when a burst of water pipes freezing becomes a matter of vital importance to some home owners.

Thawing frozen water pipes is not a job for a handyman. In fact, considerable damage may result if the householder relies on his own remedies or those of some other unqualified person.

The use of blowtorches is particularly risky. A blowtorch in the hands of a person not thoroughly familiar with its hazards is likely to result in a fire due to overheating of the pipe or an explosion due to the accumulation of steam.

Best to Call Plumber

When pipes are frozen, the task of thawing them out should be entrusted to an experienced master plumber or heating contractor. Many contractors have special electrical or steaming equipment which enables them to thaw pipes rapidly with complete safety.

Pipes which are so located as to be susceptible to freezing should be either re-located or insulated with from two and one-half to three inches of good pipe covering.

Worn piping should be replaced because it is more likely to freeze and crack. In relocating pipes, plumbing contractors will gladly offer advice for a change in layout that will improve the entire system.

Hints for Home Owners

Painted Metal Surfaces

The importance of keeping metal surfaces, such as roofs and gutters, well painted can not be overemphasized.

Tin, galvanized iron, and other metals, used for roofing, spouts, gutters, and various purposes present difficulties in painting. Often the paint does not stick well, probably due to a thin film of grease left on the material in the process of manufacture. Oil or grease should be thoroughly removed by scrubbing with soap and water or with a cloth moistened with benzine. All loose rust should be cleaned off thoroughly with scrapers, wire brushes, or sandpaper, and finally with dry scrubbing brushes.

Water-Softening Equipment

The water supply has a considerable mineral content in many regions which can be neutralized or precipitated by special equipment.

One type of water-softening equipment is available in various sizes, including small ones for attachment to a single faucet. Water softeners require periodic recharging. Equipment large enough to care for an entire house has the advantage of providing soft water to all fixtures, and may lengthen the life of plumbing lines, plumbing fixtures and heating equipment.

Large Kitchen

Large, old-fashioned kitchens offer many possibilities for modernization. If less space is desirable, a big kitchen can be easily divided into several units. Surplus kitchen area can be converted into any one of the following uses: dining alcove, household office with planning desk and telephone extension, pantry or storeroom, downstairs lavatory, or closets for clothing or cleaning materials.

Window Sills Protected

Window sills may be protected by applying a wax finish similar to that applied to automobiles. This will protect the paint from the alternating rain and sun to which the sills are subjected. Inside sills may be similarly treated so that rain which may come in or dampness from a flower pot that is set on the sill will not damage the paint.

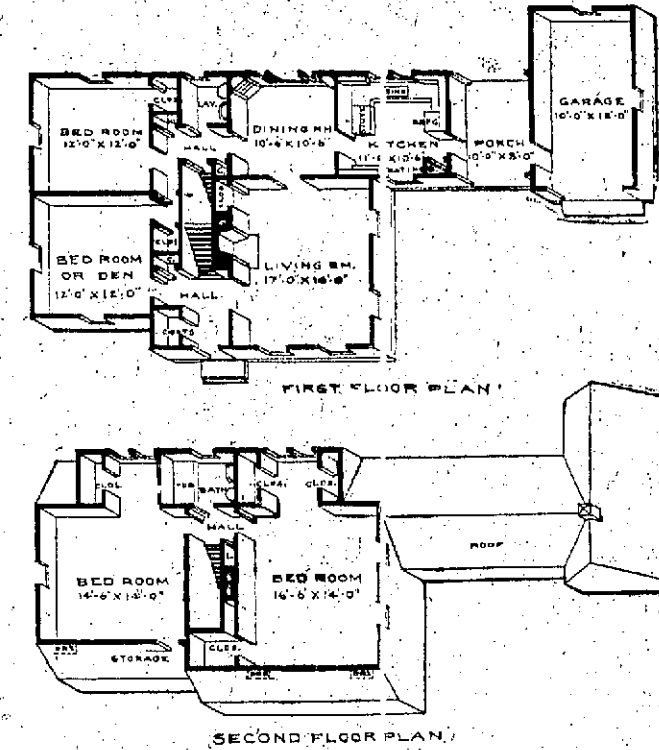

ITALY RESUMES CAR SHOW

Turin, the center of Italy's automobile industry, has just finished its 31st International Auto Show, resumed after a 10-year lapse. Among the 278 exhibitors were six foreign makers—three American, two British and one French. The show was held in a newly erected building in Valentino Park overlooking the River Po. Trailers and sport and camping outfits were among the items displayed.

MONTY GOT 'BOB-A-WEEK'

Britain's Field Marshal Montgomery, recently visiting York-shire cadet camps, questioned working boys of 15 to 17 about their pay and pocket money. London reports. Boys of today, he observed, seem to keep a third of their wages for themselves. "I think it is a matter for great consideration whether they do not get too much to spend," he said. "When I was 15 I had only a shilling (20 cents) a week."

The first regular transcontinental mail service by air began between New York and San Francisco in 1920.

Comfortable Home Features Many Closets

The "Pontiac" Home-of-the-Week, offers the family whose budget is limited a real value. It follows the traditional lines of true Cape Cod design and yet combines many new techniques to make living more comfortable. It is set close to the ground, as true Cape Cods should, which imparts that feeling of hominess that would be lacking if the basement walls showed several feet above the grade line.

The outside dimensions of the Pontiac are 34'x28', with an overall length of 60 feet. Thus a lot of 70 feet minimum will be required for this house. The cubage is 27,500 for house with 3200, feet added for garage and breezeway.

The exterior walls are white painted clapboard as shown here, although shingles, brick or stone, would look equally as well. The roof is of fire resistant material and is in tones of green to match the green trim of the shutters and screens. Gutters are of wood with copper downspouts.

A house of this type requires a minimum of landscaping because of the low lines of the roof. The square chimney breaking through the roof in front of roof ridge line adds to the feeling of snugness.

The front door is of a stock Colonial pattern and is neatly set off by a pair of long shutters at either side. Several trellises have been placed on the front of the house and add so much to the attractive setting when the climbing roses cover them.

The front entry has a large coat closet at the left archway leading to short hallway which connects living room and bedroom (or den). This hallway also provides another good sized closet adjacent to stairway.

Bright Living Room

The living room is 17'x14' and has four well-placed windows providing excellent light and good cross ventilation. A flush-type fireplace occupies the inside wall space adjacent to the stairway. There is another good closet space at the right of the fireplace, which may be used for storing wood. Unbroken wall spaces provide easy placement of furniture.

The floors of the entire house are of hardwood except the kitchen, lavatory and bathroom which are covered with linoleum. The front bedroom or den is 12'x12' with excellent closet space provided. This room has two well-placed windows and provides large wall spaces to fit either bedroom or den furniture. A doorway opens in the rear wall and leads to a short L-shaped hallway which serves the rear bedroom, linen closet, stairway, lavatory, boom closet and dining room.

The rear bedroom is the same size as the front one with similar appointments. The linen closet is spacious, and the bathroom is completely modern.

The charming dining room is 11'6"x10'6" and has two built-in china closets flanking a large picture window with small casement windows on each side to give ventilation. Two additional corner cabinets may be built in if desired. This would eliminate the need of a buffet. The walls in this room are papered with an authentic Colonial reproduction. The lighting is also of the hidden type with fixtures over the built-in china closet. A swinging door leads into the modern kitchen.

The kitchen is gleaming white with green trim. Neon tubes flood the kitchen with light. The compact work space is U-shaped with stove next to the dining room door. There is a modern ventilating method provided to remove cooking odors. The sink is centered along the rear wall under the double window with plenty of cupboard space over and under the linoleum covered work table top. The cupboards extend along the side wall to refrigerator. The kitchen is 11'6"x10'6". Adjacent to the dining room door along the front wall is another good sized cabinet with an eating space located by a front window. A glassed side door opens onto the screened breezeway. Complete cross ventilation is assured the housekeeper in this lovely kitchen.

The breezeway is 10'x8' in size and could easily be enlarged if desired to include a modern laundry set up as well, as provide an excellent place for the family to dine in hot weather.

A doorway opens into the garage. Here provision is made to store screens and storm windows. The straight stairway to the second floor leads to a short hallway serving both bedrooms, the bath and linen closet. The bath is completely modern and includes a shower stall. The left bedroom is 14'6"x14' with a single window in the side wall and a double window in the rear. A large closet is adjacent to these. Built-in drawers are located in the front wall under the roof. Also on this wall is a door opening into the storage space under the roof.

The larger bedroom is 16'6"x14'. This has two well-placed windows on the side wall and a double window in back. A big advantage in this room is the fact that it has three closets, as well as two sets of built-in drawers at the front under the roof.

The "Pontiac" might well be called a house of closets, a feature lacking in many other otherwise nice homes.

Complete plans and specifications for this house, "The Pontiac," or any other Home-of-the-Week design are available at moderate cost. To ascertain the exact cost of these documents, write to the Home Building Editor, The Kingston Daily Freeman, and enclose a self-addressed envelope bearing a three-cent stamp. At least one week should be allowed for a reply.

Marbleized Floor

To prevent footmarks from showing too conspicuously on a kitchen floor, paint may be applied to give a marbleized effect. The ground color should first be applied. After it is dry, apply a second coat of a lighter tint. Before this dries, add a piece of wrapping paper into a long roll, place it on the floor and roll it over and over so that the painted surface is disturbed by it and irregular patches removed, revealing the ground color. The second coat is applied only to a small section of the floor at a time, incidentally. When the floor is dry, go over it with a coat of wax for durability and easy cleaning.

Rhode Islanders Plan to Build

Scores of Rhode Islanders apparently are planning to build new homes during the next few months and questions regarding house construction and placement are coming to the fore.

For instance, W.B., writes: "I want to build on my lot, which faces a main highway. How should the house be located? The lot is 150 feet deep."

This calls for quite a long answer. If the front building line has been established, it may be necessary or desirable to conform to it when building the house. If a building line has not been established, the location of the house will be governed by its plan and by conditions bearing on the development of the site.

Living rooms and dining rooms placed toward the rear of the house afford privacy and protection from street noises and permit locating the house forward on the lot so that the back part of the property can be developed into a garden area.

If it is essential to place the living room at the front of the house, the latter should be set as far back as possible from the street to minimize dust and traffic noises. Additional quiet and privacy can be obtained by planting trees, shrubs and hedges of proper height, to absorb and deflect these noises.

Mixing Faucet Convenient

On a lavatory a mixing faucet is much more convenient than separate hot and cold water faucets. Most people like to rinse their hands under running water, but with two separate faucets the water may be too hot or too cold. Under a mixing faucet it can be made "just right."

New Fluorescent Lamp

Fluorescent lighting is now possible in many places where the large tube previously available could not be placed, such as in closets, bed lamps, and over mirrors and portraits, in the home. A new fluorescent lamp is only nine inches long, and about the thickness of a man's finger. It takes six watts of current, and is made in two colors, one approximately daylight.

Makes House Look Lower

A house that is too high off the ground with a bare expanse of foundation wall showing, can be improved and made to appear closer to the ground by painting the foundation wall with a green cement paint, the shade of shrubbery.

Dr. Bibby Speaks Of Child Development

"It is unfortunate that parents are not trained to train their children, that they do not know the problems they are developing in their infants which will grow to plague them in later childhood," Dr. Henry L. Bibby told parents and friends of the Kingston Nursery School and Kindergarten Monday evening. The meeting was held at the Vestry Hall of the Ahavath Israel Synagogue.
Dr. Bibby stated that "Parents must not feel that this or that behavior of the child is not important at the moment because someday he will grow up. He will never grow up psychologically under such a regime. The child must be looked upon as a subject to be prepared step by step for mature life."
Dr. Bibby emphasized the value of the nursery school in helping the child to develop into a sound, mature individual.
"The main goal of the nursery school for the child," he said, "is association at his own age level under proper guidance. This association covers the whole range of human behavior for this age on a secure, mature basis." He added that the nursery school has advantages for the parents also, providing relief from the continual strain of care and supervision of the child, and breaking of the tension that exists between child and mother."
Mrs. Murray Fletcher, chairman of the board of Kingston Nursery School, presided at the business meeting, which preceded the lecture. Mrs. Bibby, program chairman, introduced the speaker and conducted the question period which followed. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Seymour Rubin, assisted by Mrs. Max Eckhardt.

Music Group

Mrs. Douw Meyers of 44 Maiden Lane opened her home Thursday afternoon to the Music Group of the Y.W.C.A. Women's Club. The study of Franz Liszt was conducted by Mrs. William S. Jackson and Mrs. Kenneth Kukuk.

They reviewed Liszt's life which was a long series of artistic triumphs as composer, teacher, director of concert pianist, as pianist, he has never been excelled, the study pointed out. His works included compositions for the piano, organ, orchestra and voice.

His generosity toward young artists and noble character were discussed. His contemporaries were Chopin, Schumann, and Wagner. It was noted that Liszt died at the time he was superintending the production of Wagner's operas.

An unusual interest was a letter from Mrs. Richard Boerker. It was written by Miss Sophie Goebler, 85, who was for many years a teacher of music at the University of Wisconsin and who was a pupil of Liszt during the last year of his life. She is a relative of the Boerker family.

Recordings were played of the following Liszt works: Symphonic Poem No. 3, Les Preludes by the London Symphony Orchestra conducted by Felix Weingartner, and Hungarian Rhapsody No. 2 by the Philadelphia Orchestra with Stokowski conducting.

Presiding at the tea table were Mrs. J. J. Herlihy and Mrs. Henry Millonig. Mrs. Ralph Harper and Mrs. Ward Brigham poured. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Raymond Craft, November 18.

"This affair will be a celebration of labor's victory at the polls, November 2," Mabel Fisher, business agent for the local, said today. "Union members are overjoyed at the turn of events in Washington, we can now look forward with confidence to better things for the workers of our country, primarily the repeal of the Taft-Hartley Law," she continued.

All Girl Scouts throughout the county will gather at Kingston High School Auditorium Sunday at 2:45 p. m. for the Scouts' Own Program. Parents and friends are invited to attend to encourage their children in the Girl Scout training and to encourage all adult Girl Scouts and leaders.

All adults who volunteered to assist with arrangements are asked to be present at high school at 2 o'clock.

The program will include Flag assembly, pledge of Allegiance, National Anthem; invocation by the Rev. J. Dean Dykstra, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church. Adults in attendance were Mrs. Milton Tompkins, leader of Troop 44, and Miss Janice Hyde and Mrs. Casper Souers, assisting for the day.

The Shaver bus, which transported the girls and their leaders, left at 9:15 a. m. and arrived at Camp Wendy at 10:30 o'clock. The day's events included a hike around the lake and a cook-out. Many of the girls took the opportunity to study the birds and animals and their different signs, around the lake. Many sand dleer and bird tracks led them a merry chase. A robin's nest and a frog were brought back as trophies of the day and a dragon fly was released rather than take the chance of injuring her.

Miss Janice Hyde, song and dance specialist, taught the group many new songs with the hope that they would be sung in troop meetings.

Girl Scouts of Troop 47 who were present were: Carolyn Dewitt, Ann Segrave, Charlotte Teisel, Nora Sheehan, Ruth Best, Audrey Justus, Jeanette Tabor, Glenda Wentworth, Emily Bright. Present from Troop 54 were: Nancy Day, Jeannine Carpenter, Joan Woolsey, Judy Brooks, Carolyn Meeker, Gail Kias, Myra Hopper, Claire Kirschner, Betty Ann Smith, Martha Gray, Mary Lou Snyder, Christine Clark, Arlene Smith, Marjorie Davis, Patsy Peepers, Helma Palen.

Delegates who attended the state conference in Rochester October 6, 7 and 8, gave their reports. Mrs. Mize gave some of the highlights of the talk by Representative James Wadsworth of Genesee who was the guest of honor. Mr. Wadsworth spoke of the dangers to youth in the neglect or changed study and teaching of history in many of the schools of today. The American government is being taught as a model of American heroes as greatly overrated, he emphasized. He defined the Mundt bill as that which makes it obligatory for a Communist to declare his party. Mr. Wadsworth advocated a national military service as a means of defending American ideals and as a means of gaining the respect of America's adversaries.

Mrs. Clarence L. Dumm, state chairman of Junior American Citizens was highly commended by the delegates for her excellent report, her display of J.A.C. material and for the successful luncheon arranged in honor of chapter chairman and for Mrs. Shirley Kunzel, national vice chairman.

Mrs. Foster was also commended for outstanding and comprehensive report of work accomplished by junior group. Mrs. Walter T. Tremper was humorous in her review of the banquet held in the ballroom of the Seneca Hotel. She gave some of the points of the speech by John C. Tyson, superintendent of the Kate Duncan Smith School, Ala. This school and Tamassee School were both founded and are supported by the D.A.R. Financial aid is given also to five colleges and nine other schools.

Mrs. Charles A. Terwilliger reported on the address of Mrs. Adams, national chairman of C.A.R. She also announced that the conference for the year 1949 would be held in October at Lake Placid Club.

Mrs. William Macgregor Mills, chairman of committee for American music, introduced two pupils of Miss Ethel Mauserstock, who played piano solos. Lois Gray's selection was Valse de Concert, Peabody; and Richard Torrens, First Movement from Tschaiikowsky's Piano Concerto.

Mrs. Mills, who is president, reported on the Columbus Day celebration of the C.A.R. The group is planning its first project for Christmas at the Recreation Center, 97 Broadway.

Hostesses for the social hour were Mrs. William T. Hooke, Jr., Mrs. Myron Boice, Mrs. Harold Keator, Mrs. Mize poured.

Since the corps is entirely self-supporting, the proceeds will be used to help defray the cost of maintaining equipment and uniforms. The show is under the direction of Bill Smith, well known in Kingston for his minstrel work. The committees are: minstrel—Thomas Costello, Wilson Timney (in charge of show), Arthur Fitzpatrick, Chester Fox, Leslie Munson; tickets—Oakland Maynard; program—John Short, stage—John Reynolds, floor—Cleon Jump; public—Thomas Gorman. All members are participating, either in the chorus, end men, specialty acts, or serving on the committees. Tickets may be purchased from corps members or at the door.

X-ray Reports Are Being Sent To City Residents

Several thousand chest X-ray reports are now being sent to persons who were X-rayed during the first couple of weeks of the Kingston Survey, according to announcement made today by Dr. W. A. Longshore, deputy commissioner of health for Ulster county.

The X-rays are being interpreted by Dr. George W. Weber, medical director of the Ulster County Tuberculosis Hospital, and will continue to be sent out during the next few weeks.

The Free Chest X-ray Survey is now in the fifth week of an eight week duration and according to Katherine M. Murphy, R. N., executive secretary of the Ulster County Tuberculosis and Health Association, "well over 7,000 X-rays have been taken since November 4."

The mobile X-ray unit of the New York State Department of Health is currently located in the Third Ward and the Central Fire Station on E. O'Reilly street and will operate from 1 to 5 p. m. and from 7 to 9 p. m. on November 4, 5, and 8.

Suggests Grants to States

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 6 (AP)—New York's commissioner suggests that federal aid to education take the form of grants to the states for capital expenses, such as school building costs. Such grants, Frank C. Moore said last night, could be accepted without fear of too much federal control. Moore addressed the State Association of District Superintendents of Schools. The association, holding its 37th annual convention, previously had passed a resolution favoring federal subsidies for education.

The larvae of clothes moths are active at temperatures above 70 degrees.

Major Hoople Opens Magic Bag To Divulge His Trade Secrets

By MAJOR AMOS B. HOOPLE
(Fast Man With a Buck)

Egad! In view of my astounding success as a prognosticator of football results, hordes of readers have written to ask how I conjure my forecasts astronomically.

First, astronomy. No good prophet will lay his finger on a figure until he has ascertained what character of the zodiac is in sway. At the moment we seem to be under the sign of Scorpius or the Scorpion.

Now here is a factor over which the young forecaster may stub his toe. There are 12 signs of the zodiac, named from the constellations. In the time of Hipparchus, 2000 years ago, the signs coincided, but the procession of equinoxes—that is, the retrograde motion of the equinoxes along the ecliptic, which is the sun's yearly path—caused each sign in the zodiac to move backward 30 degrees. Thus now the sign Aries (The Ram) is in the constellation Pisces (The Fishes) and so on.

It is so easy to become confused that I hesitate to pass on to untutored minds the algebraic abracadabra required to straighten out this business of Rams and Fishes. Here's the stuff right from the feed box:

Stanford 13, Army 7

Bagatelles:

Football's cold war is on! "Bo" Gill is exhorting the Newburgh Free Academians to pull a "Truman" on Thanksgiving Day to "scare the daylight out of the Colonials. . . ." And Coach Rodiek of Middletown High is of the belief that a club with plenty of scrap can take the Maroons over before the season ends. . . . Wanna bet? . . . Coach Al Chase of Port Jervis is smart. He says little except that Kingston will face a different Port team here on Nov. 11, Armistice Day. They all have their points but not enough of them on the football field.

Flotsam and Jetsam:

Hartwick College, sans Zelle Zelle, opens its basketball season at home against Utica on Nov. 27. Rod Sagendorf, local set-shot ace, assured of varsity berth. Rumors circulating about town concerning election day wagering losses are fantastic. If some of the sharpies gave the odds that are being quoted, then Middletown doesn't have a monopoly on you-know-what. "Dinner Hour First By a Neck"—headline. Must be somebody's boarding house. The Penn-Army game, besides being one of the best of the season, should prove once and for all if the Penn is mightier than the sword. It is a known fact that Pennsylvanians travel for great distances but the latest story to hit the desk is that Teddie (The Whistler) Janeski really saw one atop the Adirondacks at Cranberry Lake while on that recent deer-leo safari. Janeski even goes Major Amos Barnaby Hoople one better by insisting he even saw the ring around the bird's neck. Also from the same expedition, our own George Kuriger is said to have severely burned a big black bear after Fred Ackerly had urged Mr. Bruhn. The bear almost ran Kuriger down. What's happening to these bear hunters? . . .

The Tenpin Parade:

Cutters and Carpenters running away with the Jacobson Mixer race. Warren Robinson and "Red" Gorsline are the ringers of the two squads. Edna Khederian rolls as sweet a hook as any girl in the city. Jake Francis and "Mac" didn't waste any time teaching her. How wonderful it would be if all strikes were confined to bowling alleys. The Frederick brothers—Ralph and John—combined for a rousing 220 single the other night. Did you see that little shanty "111" compiled by brother Ralph. A 24-year-old, Bobby Robinson of Chicago, beat out Joe Wilman and Buddy Bomar to win the Masters Round Robin Classic in Chicago. It really pays to own your own bowling shoes. Besides aiding your game, they represent economy plus. A good pair of bowling shoes will outlast several pairs of dress shoes given the same wear. . . . A 40-year-old biscuit salesman, Ken Gibbs, of Newburgh, blasted 192-279-276-747 at the Empire Alleys, just two pins short of Pat Tarsio's all-time high of 749.

Wonder if P.J. "Sid" Beichert ever recovered those misplaced bowling shoes?

Of Men and Mice:

Basketball on the horizon at K.H.S. with first call for candidates, other than football players, set for Monday. Remember, we have a 36-game winning streak going. And Coach Sig Makofski of Mont Pleasant told us on a golf course this summer that the Red Raiders wouldn't be that tough again. So, why not a repeat in the Northeast?

The Mail Bag:

The department announces receipt of the following communication and passes it on without comment: Datinale, New York City—Dear Charlie: I am informed that Charles "Rumor Monger" Tiano is fostering another feud. This time he is purported to be Ken Wood and the writer vs. Ye Ed (Netter) and Frank "Sandy" Mac Campachero, and it is alleged that Wood and yours truly walked out on the above named duo. Of course, as might be suspected, the reverse is true. However, through your good offices, we would like to meet the "undefeated on all courses" duo, this Sunday morning, weather permitting at 10 o'clock. Would you be so kind as to slap either or both of our would-be opponents in the kisser with the gauntlet. . . . Signed: Sincerely yours, Burt Haver, I.M.O.B.

MULLIGAN MIKE SAYS: That, friends, will be a fumbling match, if ever one was perpetrated.

Resorte Retires After Winning 18th Blue Ribbon

New York, Nov. 6 (AP)—Resorte, a tired old veteran with creaking bones and an injured leg, was ready for retirement today, having racked up his 18th blue ribbon in the National Horse Show at the age of 18.

The aged chestnut gelding, once the ace of the Mexican Army Jumping Team, made his first appearance of the 60th annual class at Madison Square Garden last night. It may be his last, but as usual it was a winning one.

For the 18th time in his long career, Resorte stood proudly in the center of the show ring as the band played the Mexican national anthem. He had carried Col. Humberto Martinez of the Mexican Army to victory in the international military jumping competition for the West Point Trophy, a new event this year.

Mead Biffs Chas. Affif

New York, Nov. 6 (AP)—Pete Mead, a clever young middleweight from Grand Rapids, Mich., used a straight right to good advantage last night in punching his way to an unanimous 10-round decision over favored Charley (AMF) Zivie, of Pittsburgh, at St. Nick's arena.

The victory was a big one for Mead who came back strong after some mid-summer reverses. Last week he stopped Sal Ritchie in the same ring.

There was some talk that the winner might get an over-the-weight shot with middleweight champ Marcel Cerdan after the first of the year but it appears unlikely.

The St. Nick's crowd of 2,365 paying $6.00 a day was a sub-par for a Friday in line with the box office slump at other clubs.

Topnotch Films Also Scheduled

Major Tom Mesereau, one of the top men on the West Point football staff, will address the Kingston Athletic Association at its regular monthly meeting on Wednesday, November 17. President Louis G. Bruhn announced today.

Major Mesereau will speak on Army football in general and is expected to prove one of the most interesting speakers ever to appear before the K.A.A.

The K.A.A. president also announced that two outstanding football films had been secured for that night. One is "Eagle Highlights of 1947" and will show highlights of all Philadelphia Eagle pro contests of last season.

The second film, "Flashbacks of a Decade," is regarded as one of the greatest football films ever released to the public. Running about 45 minutes it will show the thrilling moments of the standout college football games of the past ten years.

President Bruhn urges all K.A.A. members to reserve that date.

Toney Penna Wins North-South Golf

Pinehurst, N. C., Nov. 6 (AP)—Toney Penna, a pleasant, smiling little guy who registers his entry from Cincinnati at golf tournaments but actually lives in Florida, was anxiously scanning weather reports today after winning the 46th North and South Open championship.

It seems that the last big tournament victory Toney won before he triumphed here yesterday was the Atlanta Open last year. He picked up $2,500 prize money and then learned that a hurricane had taken the roof off his Delray Beach, Fla., home. It cost him $3,500 for a new roof.

And since his totally unexpected victory in the North and South yesterday was worth only $1,500, Toney couldn't afford any more storms.

Penna, a 40-year-old tournament "regular" who doesn't win very often, sprang a real surprise. He came through with a pair of two-under par rounds of 70 to win the traditionally important Pinehurst tourney with a 285 total.

Toney was one of the last players to finish. Up to that time the small gallery had been wondering whether Chick Harbert could finish strongly enough to beat out Sammy Snead and Julius Boros. Harbert was playing in the same threesome with the White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., slugger, and Boros, a husky but little known amateur from Bridgeport, Conn., already were in with 287 totals.

Camp Kilmer Wins Army Grid Title

Camp Kilmer, N. J., Nov. 6 (AP)—Camp Kilmer is the proud holder of the first army football championship today.

The team clinched the title last night by shutting out Fort Monmouth 20-0 at the losers' home field.

The win brought undefeated Kilmer's record to four wins, one tie. The West Point cadre fought the champs a 7-7 dead-end tie last week and it was the first score chalked up against Kilmer in two seasons of play.

The Camp Kilmer eleven also took the 1947 First Army championship.

Hunter Found Dead

Tupper Lake, N. Y., Nov. 6 (AP)—Harvey Clarke, 56, of Victor, was found dead yesterday in his hunting camp. The victim of a bullet wound. An autopsy indicated he could have walked a considerable distance after he had been wounded. State Police Inspector R. J. McDowell reported last night. Clarke had been hunting in this section since October 19. Troopers began looking for him at the request of his family, who had expected the hunter home in time to vote last Tuesday. Clarke's body lay on a cot in the tent he had set up near the Tupper Lake-Long Lake road, about nine miles from here. His 30-30 rifle stood against the wall. The man had been dead at least 24 hours, McDowell said.

Golf Tickets Selling Fast

Early response to ticket sales for the first annual City Golf Dinner on Tuesday, Nov. 16, at the Suyvesant Hotel indicates that it will be largely attended.

Lawrence Robinson, golf specialist of the New York World Telegram, will be the principal speaker. Maurice Davenport of Wiltwyck, recently crowned city golf champion, will receive the championship trophy.

Bad Distribution Is No Excuse Here

By WILLIAM E. McKENNEY
America's Card Authority
Written for NEA Service

Dr. Leo F. Schiff, of Plattsburg, N. Y., sent me today's hand, which he klibited in a rubber bridge game.

In the actual play of the hand, East won the opening diamond lead with the nine-spot, cashed the king of diamonds, then played the diamond queen. South trumped with the ten of spades. West over-trumped with the king and led back the king of hearts. Declarer won this trick in dummy and took three rounds of trumps. Now he cashed the king of clubs and led a small club to the ace, only to find East out of clubs.

"South's opponents," wrote Dr. Schiff, "murmured something about bad distribution. Who would expect to find the clubs bunched against you that way? But North was not so consoling. He insisted that South had thrown the hand away by careless play. South objected, saying it was easy to see how it should have been played now that all the cards were out, but how was he to know the disposition of the club suit before any were played? So North explained."

At trick seven there was a partial count on the East hand, six diamonds, three spades and at least one heart. Probably East had three hearts because he had played the deuce to the first trick. If South had two or three hearts, he probably would have led a heart toward the jack to establish it.

So, North pointed out, if South, after cashing the king of clubs, had continued with the club queen, the situation would have been down to the cards underlined in the hand. Now he would lead the seven of trumps and West would have to let go the ten of hearts. When the five of trumps was played West would be helpless. He would have to throw away the queen of hearts or ten of clubs.

As Dr. Schiff pointed out, even for the home bridge player, this is not too difficult a situation to figure out. And when you do figure one out and make it, it is a real thrill.

lene torches to cut through to the screaming meaning victims trapped in the wreckage.

One eyewitness said the bus apparently swerved in an attempt to miss a pedestrian. One of the unidentified bodies lying on the roadway following the crash was believed that of the pedestrian. The two vehicles telescoped and locked themselves together.

Edward Styles of Toronto, a passenger on the streetcar, described the moment of impact. "There was an awful crash and I was thrown on top of some seats," he said, "then the lights went out. People at the back of the car started to shout, 'keep your heads' and in a minute or two there was no confusion. Most of us managed to get out without trouble."

"It was awful outside. People were lying on the pavement and blood was everywhere. We could hear screams from people trapped inside the bus and there was nothing we could do."

"One soldier was thrown clear through the bus window and landed about 20 feet in front of the bus," another eyewitness said. "If he wasn't killed. It must have been a miracle."

Radio Car Out of Service

The rear axle on the police department's Radio Car No. 2 apparently broke at 3:30 a. m. today and the vehicle has been placed out of service for repairs, the police reported. Patrolmen Leonard Ellsworth and Raymond Wells, who were in the car at the time, said they were on North Front street near Washington avenue when the car suddenly refused to move either ahead or in reverse.

The axle apparently "gave out" on the automobile, which is run almost constantly, day and night, police officials said.

Harold Russell Will Talk Here Wednesday, Nov. 10

HAROLD RUSSELL

Harold Russell, motion picture star of "The Best Years of Our Lives," will come to Kingston on Wednesday, November 10, under the auspices of B'nai B'rith. He will address a joint luncheon meeting of Kiwanis, Rotary and Lions at noon. During the afternoon he will be heard by assemblies at the Kingston High School and the Myron J. Michael school.

His final appearance will be in the evening when he will address an open meeting of B'nai B'rith at the club house, 265 Wall street. This meeting will commence at 8:30. Members and their friends, as well as the general public, are cordially invited. He will speak upon the subject, "The Fears in Our Lives."

Harold Russell got into pictures the hard way. On June 6, 1944, as an instructor in demolition at Camp Mackall, Sgt. Russell attached a defective fuse to a half-pound charge of TNT. It exploded in his grasp. When he regained consciousness some time later, in the emergency ward of the field hospital, he discovered that both his hands had been amputated at the wrists.

Russell played the part of the handless veteran in "The Best Years of Our Lives," a role that was written into the script expressly for him by Robert E. Sherwood. It is an important part, especially for a man with almost no previous dramatic experience, although William Wyler, who directed the three-hour film, considers him one of the best natural actors he has ever tested.

"The Best Years of Our Lives," which stars Myrna Loy, Frederic March, Dana Andrews, Teresa Wright and Virginia Mayo, marks Russell's second appearance in a motion picture. A year ago he was featured in an army training film, produced in Astoria, N. Y., and entitled "The Diary of a Sergeant." It was a documentary account of how Russell overcame the handicap of losing his hands and it was exhibited to amputees in army hospitals throughout the country.

A chunky Irish type, with green eyes, black hair and an incandescent smile, Harold Russell was born in Cambridge, Mass., 32 years ago and has lived his entire life, apart from his army career, within sight of the Charles river. He attended Rindge Technical High School, and after graduation went to work with First National Stores, first as counter-man, then as meatcutter and finally as store manager. He enlisted in the parachute troops in February, 1942, and had 51 successful jumps (the average is about 5) when he was hospitalized. After his discharge in February of 1944, he enrolled in the School of Business Administration at Boston University and has already completed a year and a half toward his college degree. He hopes to get into advertising when he finishes his schooling.
